

BLUE LETTER

The University of Arkansas Cooperative Extension Service Monthly Letter

No. 3739 • November 2013

FROM THE DIRECTOR

Volunteers are a vital component of our Extension family. Working alongside our faculty and staff, Master Gardeners, Extension Homemakers Council and 4-H volunteers roll up their sleeves time and again to help improve the lives of Arkansans.

Master Gardeners support youth gardening, plant therapy work with hospitals and nursing homes, city beautification and horticulture information. The Arkansas Flower and Garden Show, with an average attendance of more than 10,000, is sponsored by Master Gardeners.

Arkansas Extension Homemakers Council's mission is to improve quality of living through continuing education, leadership development and community service. EHC conducts community service projects with Arkansas Children's Hospital, UAMS and Ronald McDonald House just to name a few.

Four-H volunteers provide much needed skills and resources. Volunteers are actively involved with 4-H by managing clubs, leading activities or project groups, acting as resource persons or judging competitions.

In 2012, our employees and affiliated groups gave more than 2 million hours of volunteer service. Extension was recognized by the Spirit of 110 Council at the Governor's Mansion on October 9. The council is made up representatives from state agencies.

HONORED – Tony Windham, center, head of the University of Arkansas Cooperative Extension Service, is flanked by Sherry Middleton, director of the division of community service and non-profit support, and Gov. Mike Beebe.

Only the state Department of Human Services and its 10 divisions racked up more time – around 10 million volunteer hours.

Your hard work and leadership in your communities change lives. Thank you for all that you do.

– Tony Windham

Smith-Lever marketing kit in the works

The upcoming centennial of the Smith-Lever Act is more than just another anniversary – it's an opportunity to change the way people look at the Extension Service in Arkansas.

Our history may surprise you – the Cooperative Extension Service had a lot to do with creating today's Arkansas, from helping to bring electricity to encouraging childhood immunizations. And today, we're still taking those groundbreaking steps.

To help you mark the centennial in your county, we're creating a marketing kit complete with talking points, displays, PowerPoint templates, news releases and radio scripts, historical photos and promotion items.

We are planning to have the kits in your hand next month, along with recommendations for using the tools inside. We hope you'll find opportunities in your already existing events to show or talk about Smith-Lever and give a fresh face to more than a century of innovation. ■

Amy Cole
Principal, Digital Services
State Office

- What's your background?

I initially worked as a graphic artist for about 10 years with a degree in art from UALR. I worked for UALR's College of Business for nearly seven years before working at Aristotle, a Little Rock-based web design company. I was a project manager/executive producer at Aristotle for nearly eight years. I managed website production, training, online marketing campaigns and led a team of three to ten people on any given project.

- What knowledge, skills and experience are you bringing to Extension?

I have extensive knowledge in online marketing, graphic design/illustration as well as .NET and PHP-based content management systems. I have learned best practices in web design and project management including client communication and problem solving.

- What are one or two things you would like your colleagues to know about you?

I love working with a team and teaching (and learning) new skills in an ever-changing industry. I have a “get ’er done” attitude when it comes to accomplishing day-to-day tasks and enjoy tackling complex projects.

- What would you like to accomplish your first year with Extension?

Getting the new site launched successfully!

- What brought you to Extension? What was it about Extension that you value?

I worked at Extension in the late ’90s as an intern in the communications department. It was an enjoyable experience, and I was excited to learn about the web management role from the website advertisement. I am an avid gardener (my mom is a Master Gardener) and love working for the state of Arkansas. I’m a sixth generation Arkansan, so I’m proud to be a member of the Extension team whose goal is to promote and educate people about what Arkansas resources are available to them.

- What are your interests or hobbies outside of work?

I’m an avid runner and ran the 2011 Boston Marathon. I enjoy weightlifting, cycling and staying active in general. I love watercolor painting and singing as well in my spare time. ■

April Gill

4-H Program Assistant
Dallas County

- What’s your background?

I took general studies at SAU Tech in Camden. I have been a paraprofessional at our local school and a substitute teacher for the past five years.

- What knowledge, skills and experience are you bringing to Extension?

I am bringing the experience of working with children of all ages as well as children with disabilities.

- What are one or two things you would like your colleagues to know about you?

I am married and have two wonderful children.

- What would you like to accomplish your first year with Extension?

I would like to see our 4-H youth and leader enrollment go up.

- What brought you to Extension? What was it about Extension that you value?

I was seeking a stable job, and I value the dedication Extension has to the county and community.

- What are your interests or hobbies outside of work?

I love spending time with my family, hunting, planting flowers and raising a small vegetable garden. ■

Eva Langley

County Extension Agent - Family and Consumer Sciences
Pike County

- What’s your background?

I graduated from Henderson State University with a B.S. in family and consumer science education in 2003. I then worked one year for Dawson Education Service Co-op in Arkadelphia in the Career and Technical Education Department before transferring to their new Dawson Center for Distance Learning, where I taught parenting, child development, housing and interior design and personal finance to Arkansas’ public school students. I was awarded the Arkansas Distance Learning Teacher of the Year in 2007.

- What knowledge, skills and experience are you bringing to Extension?

I became a 4-H parent in Pike County in 1988, when my oldest daughter joined 4-H. I have experienced first-hand the time and attention required when working with 4-H youth. My training in career and technical education and my experience as a distance education teacher have provided me opportunities to use and apply technology to all aspects of my job.

- What are one or two things you would like your colleagues to know about you?

I’m enthusiastic and love talking to people – so much that I decided one language was just not enough. On my 30-minute ride to and from work, I listen to a Spanish language program, “Si es verdad.”

- What would you like to accomplish your first year with Extension?

I am excited about the EHC program. Our Pike County residents have many skills and talents, a great match for EHC. Also, EHC can be a bridge between all age groups and life stages in our community.

- What brought you to Extension? What was it about Extension that you value?

I respect Extension because the work it does enables individuals to improve their own lives and encourages them to share what they have learned with others. Every person I have ever talked to about Extension has a story of an accomplishment due to 4-H, EHC or the county fair. Good stuff. ■

- What's your background?

I was born and raised in Arkansas. I graduated from Greenwood High School and went to college at U of A Fayetteville.

- What knowledge, skills and experience are you bringing to Extension?

I worked with Extension as a county Extension agent for five years in northcentral Arkansas. I have my bachelor of science and master of education degrees from the University of Arkansas. In addition, I have experience in the child care field.

I hope to learn about different software to incorporate into the Best Care Connected course and to make learning more interactive and fun for the participants.

- What brought you to Extension? What was it about Extension that you value?

Extension has been a big part of my life since I was a child in 4-H. After I graduated college, I worked as a county Extension agent. - What are your interests or hobbies outside of work?

Cooking, shopping, watching movies, making crafts. ■

I am bringing my knowledge and passion for living a healthy lifestyle to Extension, where I hope to inspire others.

- What are one or two things you would like your colleagues to know about you?

- What would you like to accomplish your first year with Extension?

Bringing the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education program back to Craighead County, I would like to promote the program and build a strong foundation for EFNEP in the county.

- What brought you to Extension? What was it about Extension that you value?

My sister, who is a Master Gardener, told me about a position in the Extension office. I value that Extension is reaching out to educate the public on some of the most important issues our society is dealing with today. ■

Outside of work I enjoy being active outdoors, cooking, planning my next travel adventure and getting hooked on television series with my husband, the latest being Breaking Bad! ■
